

STATEWIDE ELECTIVE EXECUTIVE WOMEN 2014

In 2014, 73 women hold statewide elective executive offices across the country; women hold 23.0% of the 318 available positions. * Among these women, 36 are Democrats and 37 are Republicans.

Women have been elected statewide to executive offices in 49 of the nation’s 50 states. In Maine, the governor is the only executive elected statewide, and a woman has never served as governor there.

GOVERNORS

Five women (1D, 4R) serve as governors in 2014.

Jan Brewer, an Arizona Republican, in 2010 was elected to a full term. She became governor by constitutional succession when Janet Napolitano resigned to become secretary of the U.S. Department of Homeland Security. Brewer was elected secretary of state in 2002 and 2006. She served as Maricopa County supervisor from 1997 to 2002. She served in Arizona's State Senate and House of Representatives from 1983 to 1996.

Mary Fallin, an Oklahoma Republican, won an open gubernatorial seat in 2010. She served as U.S. Representative from 2007-2011. She was lieutenant governor from 1995 to 2007 and served in the Oklahoma House of Representatives from 1990 to 1994.

Nikki Haley a South Carolina Republican, won an open gubernatorial seat in 2010. She served in the South Carolina House of Representatives from 2005 to 2011 and was majority whip from 2007 to 2011. She was assistant executive director, Lexington Medical Center Foundation. She served as a major in the Civil Air Patrol. She owns a business with her family.

Maggie Hassan, a New Hampshire Democrat, won an open election in 2012. She served in the state senate from 2004-2010; there she was senate majority leader in 2010 and previously assistant Democratic whip and president pro tempore.

Susana Martinez, a New Mexico Republican, won an open gubernatorial seat in 2010. She was elected the Dona Ana County District Attorney, serving from 1996 to 2009.

HISTORY OF WOMEN GOVERNORS

Thirty-five women (20D,15R) have served as governors in 26 states. In addition, one woman has served as governor in Puerto Rico. Arizona is the first state where a woman succeeded another woman as governor, and the first state to have had four women governors. Of the 35 women governors, 24 were first elected in their own right; 3 replaced their husbands, and 8 became governor by constitutional succession, three of whom subsequently won a full term. The record number of women serving simultaneously, achieved in 2004 and again in 2007, is 9.

| Name (Party-State) | Dates served | Special circumstances |
